Some years back, I found myself in Madras, India. There, I met a lovely, young woman who shared my deep passion for wines. She was vibrant, ethereal, intoxicating to all my senses.

Our shared interest became an attraction. And the attraction blossomed into love. The short time we spent together was permeated with more passion than most people taste in a lifetime. But like the dream she was, she suddenly disappeared leaving the story unfinished.

Even though time has passed, the memories linger and my heart dreams of finding her.

Hoping we'd meet again.

So, it is in honor of that romance that we chose Madras as the name for one of our finest line of wines grown in the Uco Valley. Because our wines will be as singular and unforgettable to you, as meeting her was to me.
