PINOT NOIR 2012

2012 is the first vineage of Gran Reserva Tarapuac Pinot Noir. This wine is a blend of different vineyards in the cool coastal valleys of Chile. The Cheuque vineyard is tucked in the Coastal mountains of the Leyda coast, a warmer site. Its contribution is plummy flavors and honey nots with salty cannins. Hallsied cando block contributes with an elegant Pinor Noir with lighter color with sour cherry and floral notes and crisp acidity. The Arafa Vineyard is deasie Pinor Noir bing cherry and rasheery spice and nervous tannins was held in stainless steel to preserve typicary. It will age nicely for, at least, can years.
