Terroir

Piritas

The cool climate Leyda Valley overlooks the Pacific Ocean. The ancient decomposed granite soils of Chile's Coastal Range combine with maritime climatic conditions to lend mineral notes to the wines produced there. Piritas is made with a blend of Chardonnay from distinctive sites and fermented in oak and stainless steel to reflect this special terroir. Piritas presents aromas and flavors of nectarine, tangerine, green pear, and floral notes with a subtle touch of toast and vanilla together balanced by its excellent acidity and a mineral edge on the finish.
