Viña San Pedro went deep into the soul of Maule Valley with the conviction of finding the perfect plot for the delicate ripening of Carmenère.

On an isolated hill, an unsettling, unique and beautiful plot of purple soil (Tierras Moradas) was discovered. A soil both bright and dark which absorbs sunrays, perpetuating daytime heat, which together with cold mornings, allow the perfect ripening of the grapes. An unrepeatable and smooth Carmenère, with enfolding notes of black fruits and an elegant acidity. Character, courage, identity and mettle are the soul of a secret Tierras Moradas.
